THE NEW ORLEANS MASSACRE.

Time is necessary to prove history. As days roll by between the present and the past, the darkened page becomes clear and the mind penetrates into the true state of things, not as they were represented, but as they actually occurred. The New Orleans massacre has already passed into history. At first the horrid scenes enacted there were clouded in mystery, and the responsibility of the loss of life laid distinctly upon no one's shoulders. Conflicting accounts poured in to puzzle the people till they calmly rested their inquiries, trusting to Providence that truth might eventually prevail. The mist is fast disappearing. The evidence of truthful men is finding its way to the North and fixing in characters of blood the dread responsibility of the terrible massacre upon the President and his party.

General ALFRED L. LEE, of Kansas, a brave officer of cavalry under Generals BANKS and SHERIDAN, has made a speech to his fellow-citizens at Leavenworth. He was an eye-witness to the massacre, and spoke only of the things which passed before his own eyes. Here is his picture of the protectors of the peace—the gallant fellows who only did their duty, according to the word of their aiders and abettors in the North:

"I stood on my balcony and looked on that crowd of four hundred policemen, maddened with liquor and drunk with fury, assisted by firemen and Thugs, assisted by two or three hundred citizens, on this field day of slaughter. I saw passing an innocent black man, with a market basket on his arm. He was met by a knot of policemen. They said, 'You are from the hall, are you?' He said, 'No.' They said, 'Yes you are.' He started to run. Two policemen ran after him, and as many as a dozen bullets were shot into his body before he fell. A citizen then stamped with his heel on his face, and he was beaten to death with clubs.

"Within five minutes after this I saw a policeman approach a black man, and putting a pistol to his back shoot him down. About ten minutes after a great, coarse, brutal ruffian approached and kicked the dead black corpse. While he was kicking the corpse a street car passed. In it was a bright yellow woman. She put out her head to look, and this ruffian raised his hand and struck her on the face."

Listen to this horrible narrative of human cruelty:

"Another little chapter in the scene. There is in New Orleans, as in most other large cities, a baggage and transfer company. A returned officer of our army was an officer of one of these companies. He told me, his office being near the scene of the riot, the police came to him and said they wished his baggage wagons to bear away the dead. They seized them, and he said he saw them repeatedly throw six and eight bodies, black and white, into one wagon and carry them off. He told me of one scene in particular. Eight or ten men had been thrown into a wagon. Two of the first who had been thrown in (black men) were not quite dead, and the shock revived them. They endeavored feebly to push from them the recumbent mass of corpses. A policeman saw it; he leaped into the wagon with the expression, 'G—d d—n you, I will fix you, I will fix you so you will be still,' and with his revolver very deliberately blew out their brains.

"Another negro was shot down on the street and had been left for dead. He laid there until notice of him had ceased. A policeman came along and noticed that the man had some life in him. He saw the policeman, and the poor, ignorant, deluded man raised his head with a petition for aid. Instead of giving him the aid he requested, he gave him such as he had been instructed to. He raised his club and broke his neck at a blow."

Gen. LEE tells more. He confirms the belief that the official dispatches of General SHERIDAN were terribly mutilated and garbled before given to the public, and this nails a consciousness of guilt upon the President and his advisers. This speech of General LEE's also shows how the rebel military power was kept in existence under the guise of Relief Associations, till SHERIDAN fully comprehending the object of the traitors, compelled them to disband. But hear General LEE where he says:

"Sheridan, the noble, great and true man of our war, was not there; he had gone to the Rio Grande. But he has returned. I have heard some criticisms regarding his dispatches to the North, but I see it stated that the dispatches published as from him were but garbled extracts, and I tell you gentlemen, that I believe it.

"I have something to tell you of Sheridan. Some three weeks ago, and two weeks before I left New Orleans, I waited on General Sheridan, and told him I was about to leave the South and come North again. I told him my statements might appear one sided; that possibly some might think a radical unsafe to trust, and I wished to know from him his opinion, as a conservative old army officer, and one then and there in authority. In justice to General Sheridan I will say that he said to me he then did not wish to express his opinions in such a manner as to spread abroad; that he was a simple soldier and could avow no creed but his orders. He told me what he thought of Southern rebels.

"I must tell you further, that about six months after the war there were many associations formed known as relief associations; such as Gibson's Brigade Relief Association and the Hays Brigade Relief Association. These associations were made up of soldiers, and the presidents of the associations were the old commanders of brigades, and the vice presidents were the old colonels of regiments, and so down. They held secret meetings, and were, to all intents and purposes, a military organization. Sheridan feared these organizations as a nucleus for further disturbance, and he made up his mind to suppress them. He issued an order declaring that all relief associations and all associations for the erection of monuments intended to commemorate the late rebellion should be dissolved and suppressed.

"When they heard of it they came and begged him not to issue it. He said 'I know no compromise of duty; I have made up my mind to issue it, and issue it I will. Three weeks ago I thought your organization was mutinous, and at that time I ordered a battery of artillery from the Rio Grande to sweep the streets the first motion you made; you were not wise enough to take the hint, and now I disperse you by order.'

"General Sheridan said, "I fear northern men don't understand this thing. In a word, these rebels are willing to come back if they can place the rebel flag right alongside the Stars and Stripes. They want to preach rebellion; they want to go back to Congressional halls clothed with the mantle of authority; they are willing if Lee and Johnston shall stand on the same plane as Grant and Sherman; they are willing to come back if this rebellion shall be made a thing to be proud of, and its memory shall fall as a glorious heritage to their children. I consider these gorgeous funeral processions an insult to me and to every man who ever wore the federal blue."

A CORDIAL invitation to all Union Republicans of the Commonwealth to meet the loyal Southerners who are to assemble in Philadelphia on the 3d proximo, has been issued by the State Central Committee. It is to be hoped that every district will respond and send large delegations, thus proving to the loyal patriots of the South that the great masses of the people are with them, and will sustain them in their patriotic efforts against the machinations of traitors in the North and rebels in the South.

A Brief Dialogue between Common Sense and a Dyspeptic.

COMMON SENSE.—Is it possible for any human being to enjoy life while suffering from indigestion.

DYSPEPTIC.—No more than it is possible to be happy on the rack. I speak from experience.

COMMON SENSE.—Suppose, then, that a remedy for this terrible complaint is offered, under the guarantee of hundreds of individuals of high social standing, who have tested the effect of the article in their own cases, is it not unwise in any one afflicted with the disease to neglect giving it a trial?

DYSPEPTIC.—Unquestionably. I admit the premises. What is the deduction?

COMMON SENSE.—Give heed. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is such a remedy. The evidence of its efficacy as a cure for dyspepsia is positive, complete, undenied and undeniable. Have you ever ascertained by experiment whether it is or is not the infallible cure that it is claimed to be?

DYSPEPTIC.—I confess that I have not.

COMMON SENSE.—Then you stand convicted of folly by your own showing. If the same strong proofs that have been advanced in favor of this great tonic had been submitted to you with regard to any business speculation, you would have gone into it at once. Is HEALTH of less importance than the dollars and cents which no man can enjoy without it?

DYSPEPTIC.—No, no, no—a thousand times no. Common Sense you are right. I will give the Bitters a trial.

COMMON SENSE.—Do so, and I shall never more, have any cause to address you as a dyspeptic.

A steamer had arrived at Rio Janerio from Montevideo, bringing intelligence of the general failure of the allied forces in their operations against the Paraguayans, and that the latter had surrounded their enemy in a swamp near Humaita, on the Paraguay river.

The stock of the allied army is dying off rapidly, and Lopez, commander of the Paraguayan army, was confident and energetic in his efforts to deal a final blow on the war.

Business at Rio Janerio was in a complete state of stagnation. Money was at a discount and everything dull.

The Guy Fawkes Plot—New Scale of Cable Rates—Speech of the Queen—The Atlantic Telegraph—Senior Matters &c.

The account of a Guy Fawkes plot to blow up the Houses of Parliament, as reported by the cable, was greatly exaggerated; a paper containing nine pounds of powder and a slow match, was picked up by the policeman on duty. Its object is not apparent. The London News announces that the patronage of the Atlantic Cable had become so great that the directors had in contemplation the establishment of a new scale of prices; first, second and third class messages, according to the priority, the latter to be of the same rates as now charged.

The following are the principal passages of interest in the Queen's speech, on the prorogation of Parliament. Her Majesty has great satisfaction in congratulating the country and the world at large, on the successful accomplishment of the great design of connecting Europe and America by the means of an electric telegraph. It is hardly possible to anticipate the full extent of the benefits which may be conferred on the human race by this signal triumph of scientific enterprise, and Her Majesty has the pleasure in expressing deep sense of what is due to the private energy, which, in spite of repeated failure and discouragement, has at length, for the second time, succeeded in establishing direct communication between the two continents.

Her Majesty trusts that no impediment will occur to interrupt the success of this great undertaking, calculated as it undoubtedly is to cement yet closer the ties which bind Her Majesty's North American colonies to their mother country, and to promote the restricted intercourse and friendly feeling which it is most desirable should exist between Her Majesty's dominion and the great Republic of the United States.

A wide-spread treasonable conspiracy, having for its objects the subversion of Her Majesty's authority in Ireland, the confiscation of property and the establishment of a Republic, having its seat in Ireland, but deriving its principal support from naturalized citizens of a foreign and friendly State, compelled Her Majesty at the commencement of the present session to assent to a measure recommended by her representative in Ireland for the temporary suspension in that part of Her Majesty's dominions of the habeas corpus act.

That measure firmly but temperately acted on by the Irish Executive had the effect of repressing any outward manifestations of treasonable intentions, and of causing the withdrawal from Ireland of the greater portion of those foreign agents by whom the conspiracy was mainly fostered. The leaders, however, of this movement were not deterred from prosecuting their criminal designs beyond the limits of Her Majesty's dominions. They even attempted from the territories of the United States of America an inroad upon the peaceful subjects of Her Majesty in her North American provinces. That attempted inroad, however, only served to manifest in the strongest manner the loyalty and devotion of Her Majesty's subjects in those provinces, who, without exception of creed or origin, united in the defence of their sovereign and their country.

It served also to show the good faith and scrupulous attention to international rights displayed by the Government of the United States, whose active interference by checking any attempted invasion of a friendly State, mainly contributed to protect Her Majesty's dominions against the evils of a predatory inroad.

Napoleon had returned unexpectedly from Vichy, and rumors of his serious illness had caused a sensation in financial circles.

Letter from Secretary Seward to Gen. Kilpatrick.

NEW YORK, August 22.—A letter from Secretary Seward to General Kilpatrick, Minister to Chili, is published, setting forth the policy of the United States concerning wars in adjoining republics. He says we maintain that the republican system which is accepted in any one of those States, shall not be wantonly assailed, and that it shall not be subverted as an end of a lawful war by European powers. In wars waged between nations, in friendship with ourselves, if they are not pushed like the French war in Mexico to the political point mentioned, we do not intervene. Spain assured us that she would not carry her war with Chili to that point, and we are ready now and henceforth to hold Spain to the agreement, if found necessary.

Mr. Seward, at some length, shows that this policy is one of strict neutrality and friendship, and one which has governed the United States from the time of Washington.

Cotton Crop in North Carolina—Settlement of Freedmen in Texas.

FORTRESS MONROE, August 22.—Advices from the interior counties of North Carolina state that the cotton crop is looking well, and in some sections is in better condition than on the Roanoke River. The county of Edgecombe is expected to yield from 15,000 to 18,000 bales, and other counties in like proportion.

A party of benevolent gentleman from the North contemplate a settlement of freedmen in Texas, and design purchasing two plantations in Austin county for the purpose. They will erect churches, school houses and quarters for the freedmen, and furnish good wages and constant employment. The project is endorsed by Generals Howard and Thomas.

New Orleans Market—Navigation of Red River.

NEW ORLEANS, August 22.—Cotton—sales 850 bales of low middling, at 32¼c. Receipts—118 bales. Bank Sterling 55@57. Gold 145¾. New York Exchange ¼. Discount 17.

Advices from Shreveport on the 17th say the navigation on the Red river kept open unusually late but must now be given up by large boats and may be considered closed.

REPUBLICAN UNION CONVENTION.

Immense Gathering of People at Reading.

FOUR DIFFERENT MEETINGS ORGANIZED

Speeches by Hon. L. W. Hall, Col. Forney, Col. Frank Jordan, Gen. Fisher and Others.

IMPOSING TORCH-LIGHT PROCESSION.

Patriotic Resolutions Adopted.

READING, PA., Aug. 22.—A grand convention of the people of Eastern Pennsylvania who adhere to the principles of the Republican Union party, and opposed to the policy of President Johnson, assembled in this city to day. Immediately upon their arrival the different local organizations and visiting delegations formed into line and paraded through the city. A great many of those in the ranks were returned soldiers.

At half past two o'clock the Convention was called to order by Col. Jordan, chairman of the Republican Union State Central Committee. William B. Thomas, of Philadelphia, was called upon to preside. In consequence of the immense numbers in attendance, four different meetings were organized. At the largest of these, which was held in front of the residence of George W. Lammon, Esq., Hon. Lewis W. Hall, Speaker of the State Senate, addressed the crowd. He declared the issue to be whether traitors, or those who had upheld the Government in the late perilous crisis should control the country, in the future. 300,000 loyal men had died, and the debt of four thousand millions of dollars had been created that the nation might live, and the present political contest involved exactly the same question at issue during the war, whether treason was not a crime to be odious, and punished. If, however, the issue insisted upon by the opposition was the true one, and if by plea of upholding a white man's government it was intended that the loyal blacks, who had helped the Government, were to be deprived of their civil rights, then the speaker desired it to be understood that in a question between loyal blacks and disloyal whites, he was for the former. He demanded that there should be security for the future. He then reviewed the record of the Democracy as made up in the speeches and doings of its best exponent, the present candidate of that party for the gubernatorial chair, contrasting that record with the military services of General Geary, the Republican Union candidate.

J. W. Forney, of Philadelphia, upon being introduced, said that there was one question which might be propounded to every man's heart without fear of the answer, to wit: "Would any man or woman, had he or she the power, restore the institution of slavery?" He referred to the people of the free States, for he thought there could be no question that the well organized friends of that institution in the South were intoxicated with the hope of being able to restore it.

He then contrasted the changed condition of the political sentiment of our own day with that which existed before the war, arguing that the march of freedom was ever onward. The constituencies of the abolition of slavery none could compute, while its financial results were alike incalculable. One of these results was the opening of the Southern country to the people of the whole country, for which blessing the nation was indebted to the valor of her soldiers, and to the courage and sagacity of her Statesmen. He then reviewed at length the political history of the times, eulogizing the loyalty and devotion of our oppressed race, and condemning the course of President Johnson, whom he charged with having destroyed the Union men of the South and made himself subservient to every demand of the country's enemies.

At other stands where meetings were held speeches were delivered by Col. Frank Jordan, Gen. Fisher, of Lancaster; Col. Albright, of Carbon; Gen. Grifly, Capt. Tower, and others. In the evening a large and imposing torch light procession finished up the days' proceedings.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—The following Resolutions were adopted at the great Union meeting at Reading to-day:

Resolved, That we give praise and thanks to Almighty God in that He has vouchsafed unto us a full and complete victory over those who sought during four long years of bloody war to destroy this last altar of the rights of man upon which to base free institutions, that the black and loathsome stain of slavery which classed us among the dark and heathen nations of the earth, has at last been blotted out, and in all our land no man can say to his fellow man, "thou art mine."

Resolved, That we owe a debt of lasting gratitude to the Union soldiers and sailors for their valor and prowess, in putting down the slaveholders, wicked and bloody rebellion, and we pledge to their wives and orphans protection, support and patronage whenever within our power to give them.

Resolved, That in the joint resolution which passed the Congress of the United States by a two-thirds vote, proposing amendments to the Constitution, we recognize the only safe palladium of the principles for which we sacrificed four hundred thousand lives of our best blood and three thousand millions of our treasure; that in the same spirit which actuated our forefathers to proclaim the declarations of independence, in 1776 we most heartily endorsed the first section of the amendment declaring that all persons born within the United States, shall be citizens thereof, as a means also of future protection, as well as present fairness and equality.

We are in favor of the section, which provides for equalizing representation in Congress and in the Electoral College, and we declare our avowed hostility now and forever against the admission of the States late in rebellion upon a basis of representation which gives to the South sixty per cent. more power to Congress and in the Electoral College than an equal number of white people in the North, while the third section, excluding all perjured rebels from eligibility to office meets our hearty and unqualified approval.

Resolved, That the true interest and purpose of the policy laid down by Andrew Johnson, the man made President by J. Wilkes Booth, is to resurrect from oblivion and disgrace the Democratic party, which for its treasonable course during the war was consigned to the tomb of everlasting infamy and shame, and we believe that the success of said policy would turn back the wheels of progress a generation in our country's march to greatness and to glory.

Resolved, That in Major General J. W. Geary, the standard bearer of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, we have combined the principles of the soldier and statesman, the hero of many battles and the defender of civil liberty whenever and wherever he has been called to govern.

Resolved, That Andrew G. Curtin, the good and loyal Governor of Pennsylvania, has well earned the noble title of the soldier's friend, and in retiring from the gubernatorial chair, he takes with him the entire confidence and esteem of every patriot in the State.

Resolved, That Henry J. Raymond, who was made Chairman of the National Republican Executive Committee, by the National Union Convention of 1864, which nominated Abraham Lincoln for President of the United States, by his having followed the lead of the infamous Andrew Johnson, and with him turned traitor to the principles of his party and the great interests of freedom and humanity has become unworthy and odious, and this Convention therefore requests that Committee to assemble and, without permitting him to resign, forthwith expel him from the Chairmanship of the Committee.

National Labor Convention—The Eight Hour System, &c., &c.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 22d.—The National Labor Convention renewed their deliberations to-day. The Committee on the eight hour system, reported resolutions enjoining members of Congress to agitate the question at their homes, and effect some plan of combined organization as regards political action. No vote should be cast by working men, except for men pledged to the interests of labor. Report re-committed by a vote of 28 to 23.

The Committee on Trades Unions reported in favor of the formations of such unions and the establishment of Mechanics Institutes Lyceums, Reading Rooms, &c., adopted.

The Committee on Co-operative Associations and Prison Labor, reported in favor of urging on State Legislatures the passage of co-operative acts, and that convict labor cannot be entirely abolished.

The Committee on Permanent Organizations presented their final report, which was adopted.

The Committee on the Eight Hour System presented an amended report, concluding with a resolution recommending every friend of the movement to vote for no candidate not unequivocally pledged to vote for the law making eight hours a legal day's work, and where a working man is found available for any office, preference should invariably be given to such a person.

Death of Judge Lee—Delegates to Southern Unionists Convention.

The Third Congressional District Convention, composed of thirteen upper wards of Baltimore, meets this afternoon.

Ashley, Ex. Governor Hamilton, of Texas. Ex. Post Master General Dennison, it is expected will appear.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Instructions by the Secretary of the Treasury—Cholera on the Atlantic Sea Board—Letter from Rear Admiral Goldsborough—Johnson Soldiers' Resolutions—Maximilian's Paper Blockade—Executive Appointments—Counterfeit United States Notes—Revenue Receipts &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, August 22.—There is official authority for denying the statement that the Secretary of the Treasury has given instructions that no money shall be paid out of the Treasury under the provision of the Liniel Appropriation Law for additional bounties to soldiers. As soon as the regulations governing the payment shall be agreed upon by the commission, they will be furnished to the Treasury Department, and not until then will they be presented for the decision of the Secretary. The question is whether the law carries with it an appropriation for the object specified.

Commodore Winslow, commanding the Gulf Squadron, under date of Pensacola Bay, Aug. 16th, informs the Navy Department, that there is a decrease of cholera in the iron clad fleet at New Orleans. The Tallapoosa had been exempt from disease. A painful disease called the Degne, though not dangerous, had attacked and prostrated the men of the Chocura, at St. Marks and Apalachola, but a vessel had arrived at Pensacola with the hands.

Rear Admiral Goldsborough, writing to the Navy Department under date of Cherbourg, France, August 17, says: This place is entirely free from cholera, and has been so since March. The disease does exist, however, at this time quite severely in Holland, and is particularly fatal at Antwerp.

Instead, therefore, of ordering the Froile to Flushing to have her bottom cleaned and painted, I have concluded to have it done here, and vice Admiral Raymond, who is now the prefect maritime at Cherbourg, has been kind enough to place one of the dry docks of the naval establishment at my disposal for the purpose. She goes into it to-day. Nothing could exceed the gracious manner of the Admiral on the occasion. As you are aware, he is quite well known in our country, and his bearing towards us as well as that of the officers under his command is as friendly as possible.

The United States steamer Saranac arrived at Mare Island, California, on the 17th of July, for supplies and slight repairs.

Colonel Walter Barrett, chairman of the Committee to present to the President the proceedings of the Johnson Soldiers' State Convention of Pennsylvania, had an interview to-day with the President of the United States, who, on receiving a copy of the proceedings, thanked Col. Barrett, and through him the soldiers whom he represented, for their course, and particularly for the kind manner in which they referred to him in the resolutions.

Official information reached here to-day that the United States steamer Mahaska, with eight guns, had left Pensacola for Tampico in accordance with instructions founded on the President's proclamation relative to Maximilian's paper blockade.

The following executive appointments were made to-day: P. Sidney Post, of Illinois, Consul for the port of Trieste, and all other ports in the Austrian dominions on the Adriatic coast, excepting those ports which belong to the Lombardo and Venedan kingdom; Thos. Gray, of California, Naval Officer at San Francisco, and John M'Ginnis, of Illinois, Commissioner to the Paris Exposition.

During the confinement of Colonel Streight and companions in Libby prison, some of them though indifferently provided with drawing materials, so well imitated the United States notes as to find ready purchasers among the rebels in exchange for provisions. One of these counterfeits was received by the United States Treasurer to-day, the owner of it innocently supposing it would be redeemed by that officer.

The Chairman of the National Union Executive Committee, in conformity with a resolution adopted at a meeting of the committee held at Philadelphia on the 16th inst., has appointed the following named members of the committee to constitute a sub-committee with power to act in matters relating to the pending campaign: Colonel James P. Babcock, New Haven, Conn.; Hon. Robert H. Pruyn, Albany, N. Y.; General Saml. M. Bullock, Philadelphia, Pa.; Hon. Thos. G. Pratt, Baltimore; Hon. James G. Norton, Chicago, Barton Able, St. Louis; Hon. W. S. Sharkey, Jackson, Mississippi; Jos. T. Cronell, Rahway, New Jersey, Chairman.

The Committee above named is requested by the Chairman to meet at the Metropolitan Hotel, Washington, next Wednesday, the 29th inst., at noon.

The receipts of the Internal revenue since the 1st of July are fifty-two millions.

R. S. Chew, who has heretofore so courteously and efficiently discharged the duties connected with the Consular Bureau, has been appointed Chief Clerk of the State Department, in place of William Hunter, recently promoted for long continued and important services to the newly erected office of Second Assistant Secretary of State.

The President gave audience for several hours to-day to an unusually large number of persons, among them many ladies, all taking their turn to make known their business, which, for the greater part, did not fall within the line of his Executive duty—the conversations being conducted in a tone sufficiently loud to discover this fact.

The Committee of the Soldiers and Sailors Union, appointed at their last meeting to issue a call for a mass Convention of soldiers to meet at Chambersburg, Pa., on the 24th of September, held a meeting this evening to make preliminary arrangements; the call will be issued in a few days.

Meeting of the Philadelphia Union League.

PHILADELPHIA, August 22.—There was an enthusiastic meeting this evening at the Union League House. There were five hundred members present. A preamble and resolutions were presented by Charles Gibbons and unanimously adopted.

First, That this League will welcome to the city of Philadelphia the delegates to the Convention of Southern Loyalists, and will co-operate with these and other loyal citizens of the United States, to secure the perpetual union of all the States on the basis proposed in the amendment to the Constitution agreed upon by Congress.

The second and third provides for a public welcome to the delegates to the Convention, and invites the citizens of this and other States to participate, and directs the Secretary to issue tickets of admission to the league house to the delegates. The fourth section declares that the thanks of the league be and they are hereby cordially presented to the loyal representatives in Congress from this and other States, who faithful to justice, to liberty, to the Constitution and the Union, have saved the country from the humiliation, danger and disgrace of admitting into public councils unpunished traitors, whose hands are stained with the blood of her loyal children.

The fifth is as follows:

Resolved, That in the extraordinary sympathy recently manifested by Andrew Johnson, under the guidance of William H. Seward, with the prominent traitors of the country and their political adherents in his treachery to the loyal people who trusted and raised him to power; in his recent declaration that he will use that power to compel every man who holds office under the government to support his policy or give up his bread; in his denial of the right of the people of the loyal States to exercise legislative powers in Congress in the present condition of the country; in his indecent and ribald attack upon their representatives for endeavoring to establish justice and to protect a weak and helpless race from persecution oppression and slaughter; in his fraternity with the rebels at New Orleans, resulting in the horrible and causeless massacre of loyal, peaceful and virtuous citizens, wicked in conception and fiendish in execution, we recognize with profound disappointment and sorrow, a degree of moral and political depravity which has no parallel in our history, and we are all thus admonished that the utmost vigilance is now required on the part of those by whose votes and arms the nation was saved, in order to secure the fruits of their victory—Justice, with Peace, and Liberty with Union.

A formal letter of invitation to the delegates was adopted, concluding as follows:

Your sufferings during the war commanded our heartiest sympathy, and we promised ourselves, though its triumphant close would bring to you your reward, not only in release from persecution, but to enable you to carry into effect your noble aspiration of moulding into one glorious nationality, the hitherto jarring sections of our country with you we are grieved profoundly at the unexpected policy which apparently seeks to reward treason and punish fidelity; nor can we see aught but evil for the future, in the unholy alliance between those on the one hand who sought to subvert the government, and on the other, one who endeavored to cripple that government in its efforts for self preservation. With you we think the destinies of this Republic should not be confided to men who have labored for its destruction. With you we deprecate the measures which place loyalty defenceless in the power of such men as organized the New Orleans massacre. With you we desire to have treason made odious, in order to secure for our posterity the blessings of peace. With you we supported the war in the interests of peace, but the peace for which we struggled was not to be a hollow truce in which both parties should be recruiting strength for another conflict, nor was it to be an artifice by which traitors should obtain through legislation, ends which they had failed to secure by force.

Fenian Circular.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Colonel Roberts has issued a circular to the Fenian Brotherhood contradicting certain malicious reports that the Fenian Brotherhood are to be used for political party purposes. All such assertions, he says, are base fabrications. Mr. Stephens is preparing an address to the Fenians which it is understood will be eleven columns long.

The large quantity of arms contributed by the circles are said to have reached the Fenian War Department to-day.

Arrest of a Counterfeiter.

AUGUSTA, ME., August 22.—Simon Batchelder, of Palermo, a noted counterfeiter and principal of a gang in those parts, who have been engaged in putting into circulation a large amount of counterfeits on the Highland National Bank of Newbern, New York, was arrested last night in Palermo, and taken to Portland this morning. This makes the sixth arrest among the gang.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS ON THIRD PAGE.

Blockaded Streets.

There is upon the books a law which expressly forbids teamsters and others from driving closer together than fifteen feet, but it appears to be a dead letter. The corner of Penn and St. Clair streets is almost in a perpetual state of blockade. Yesterday afternoon three express wagons, laden with vegetables and driven close together, stopped at the crossing of Penn and Hand streets, upon the track of the Citizen's Passenger Railway. This being a great thoroughfare, vehicle after vehicle began to accumulate from the four points of the compass, until there was a perfect mass of wagons, carts, drays carriages and street cars. One of the horses attached to an express wagon became fractious, and backing into a funeral train, came very near upsetting the carriage containing the mourners and a little coffin. It was nearly ten minutes before the tangled mass became unravelled, and each vehicle could proceed on its way. And all this came of driving close together and stopping on one of the crossings.

New and Dangerous Counterfeit.

Counterfeit $50 compound interest notes of July 16, 1864, counterfeit fives on the Citizens' National Bank of Fulton, N. Y., and counterfeit fives on the First National Bank of Cairo, Illinois, have made their appearance. The points of difference between the counterfeit and genuine $50 interest note are so slight as to require the closest observation to detect them. The words "three years after date" on the top of the bill nearly touches the words "Treasury Department," while in the genuine there is a space three-eighths of an inch between. The last button of Hamilton's coat is quarter of an inch from the lower margin of the small $50s, while in the genuine the button touches the margin. The execution of this note proves not only that first-class note engravers have been at work upon it, but that large capital has been employed, and the most strenuous exertions should be made by the government to ferret out and bring to condign punishment all who are interested in this and similar frauds.

Accident—Boy Run Over.

A little boy named James Caughey, who resides near the Excelsior Glass Works, in Pitt township, was run over on Pennsylvania Avenue, yesterday afternoon, under the following circumstances: He had been clinging to the rear of one of the Oakland and East Liberty Passenger cars, but being ordered off, he let go his hold, and stepped to one side, when he was struck by one of the shafts of Dr. M'Candless' buggy, and knocked down, the wheels of the vehicle passing over his back. He was taken up immediately, and carried to his home, where Dr. M'Candless waited upon him. It is thought the spinal column has sustained some injury, but to what extent, we are at present unable to say.

Convention of Tailors.

A convention of the Tailors' National Union, composed of delegates from all the largest cities of the Union, met at New York last week. The object of the Convention was to consider various matters connected with the trade and the protection of the journeymen. A report was adopted recommending a fraternity among the tailors, somewhat similar to the Masonic association, an International Union being proposed, not only with Canada, but with the tailors of the various European countries.

An Item for Base Ball Players.—For the information of our young men who "play ball," we publish the edifying news that it has been decided by a number of eminent physicians, through a correspondence with the Columbus (Ohio) Journal, that the effects of prolonged and violent muscular exercise, such as is necessary in playing base ball, cricket, &c., upon the health, at the present season, and in view of the probable advent of cholera, is dangerous, tending to the production of fevers and bowel diseases, particularly cholera and dysentery. We would, therefore, advise our base ball playing friends to curb their ardor a little, and be content to rest until the frost has cleared the atmosphere so that of the many poisons rife just now.

A New Operatic Company.—We understand quite a number of ladies and gentlemen residing in the vicinity of Enon Valley, Lawrence county, have formed themselves into an amateur operatic organization, for the purpose of cultivating their musical talent. We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend a musical soiree, to be given by them on Friday evening next. Selections from Mendelssohn, Ernani and Margaret, form the bill of entertainment. We would respectfully make known to the aspirants for musical celebrity, that we have too sensative a composition to be able to witness the wholesale slaughter of those great masters first works.

Served Him Right.—While Alderman Johns was hearing a case a few days since, an impertinent fellow named Dennis Cahill, interrupted him with unseasonable appeals in behalf of the defendant in the case. After submitting to the torture until "patience ceased to be a virtue," the magistrate took the intermeddler by the shoulder and ejected him from the office. Cahill subsequently appeared before Alderman Morrow, and instituted legal proceedings against Johns for assault and battery. The accused entered bail for a hearing on Saturday.

Harvest Home.—We spent our last Fourth of July at a picnic given by the "F. L. T.'s," and never enjoyed a day so much as that in our lifetime. We are now made the recipient of a complimentary bid to a grand Harvest Home Picnic, to be given to-day, at McFarland's Grove, under the auspices of the same Club. Every arrangement has been made to secure the enjoyment of all who may attend. The ground will be brilliantly illumined at night with beautiful lamps, and the dance goes on merrily till next morning.

Violating a City Ordinance.—Officer McGuire yesterday arrested a drayman by the name of John Simpson, for the violation of the ordinance against running vehicles without license. It appears that Simpson has been running his dray all summer without taking out any license. The penalty for this offense is five dollars, and cost of suit. The offender was taken before Alderman Donaldson, who allowed him to go to the Mayor's office for his license. The fine was not yet settled when we left the office.

Up for Committing a Nuisance.—John Rummel, a white man, and Alex. Taylor, colored, were taken before Mayor McCarthy yesterday morning for committing a nuisance. They are both night soilers, and Rummel was caught in the act of emptying his filth on the Allegheny wharf. He was fined twenty-five dollars and costs, as it was proven that he was in the habit of doing it. Taylor was charged with spilling excrement in the street, and received a similar penalty.

A Brilliant Novel.—John P. Hunt & Co., Fifth street, sends us a new novel entitled "Philip Earnscliffe, or the Morals of Mayfair," by Mrs. Edwards. It is a beautiful and brilliant production, fully in keeping with Mrs. Edwards' "Archer Lover," "Ordeal for Wives," "Miss Forrester," &c., &c. It is published by the American News Company in their best style of the typographical art.

Not Half Enough.—Two individuals who gave the fictitious names of William B. Nicksom and James Durmuddy were before the Mayor yesterday, for forcing an entrance into the residence of a respectable citizen in this city under the impression that it was a house of ill-fame. They were fined ten dollars and costs each, which was not half enough.

Soldiers' Monument Dedication.—The Venango County Soldiers' Monument will be dedicated at Franklin, with appropriate ceremonies, on the 10th of September. General John W. Geary has been invited to deliver the address on the occasion. It is the intention of the discharged soldiers of Venango county to have a grand re-union on that day.

No Cholera.—The clerk of the steamer Hudson, in a letter to the Wheeling Intelligencer, denies that there is cholera on the boat.

An Exciting Contest.

One of the most interesting and exciting contests has recently been going on, with regard to the many conflicting opinions as to whose is the best Hair preparation now in use, until one Dr. Tebbetts has bounded into the ring, with a real and genuine article, which has taken the prize over all others. The question was mooted for a long time, and after a good deal of controversy, it was agreed to leave it to the decision of the people, who were to meet in a convention to be assembled for the settlement of the long vexed question. After full deliberation, and a fair trial, the announcement was made that Dr. Tebbett's Hair Regenerator had won the prize, which was received with loud and prolonged cheering, waving of hats and bonnets—and no wonder, for those who waved the longest, and cheered the most lustily, it was noticed, had healthy, flowing locks, made so by the wonderful Regenerator of Tebbett's—a few only were heard to murmur, and those few were of the number who had failed to use this latest invention of scientific skill. But all jesting aside, Tebbett's Hair Regenerator is without doubt, the most complete and perfect hair compound yet discovered. It restores gray hair, prevents its falling off, keeps the head clean, the hair in its place, never soils, is richly perfumed, and is the admiration of everybody.

Try it, and if it don't do all we say, come and get your dollar back. Sold by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at Dr. Keyser's, 140 Wood street. Price, $1 large bottle.

Opera House.

Rosedale was brought out last evening at this establishment for the first time to an immense house, standing room being at a premium long ere the curtain arose. It is a beautiful romantic drama, and is so arranged as to please almost any taste. It abounds with striking situation full of dramatic effect, such as only could have been written by one, who, like the author, Lester Wallack, is perfectly conversant with the intricacies of stage business, and knows how to arrange them, so they may heighten the interest of the play most. The Elliott Grey of Mr. Barrett needs no commendation; his equal in this role is not to be found anywhere. Florence Leigh found a truthful representation in Miss Annie Waite, while the Matthew of Leak and the Rosa of Mrs. Skerritt were excellent. The rest of the characters were proportionately good. The management deserve credit for the perfectness with which they have placed Rosedale on the stage. It will be repeated to-night.

Sent to New York.

In our issue of Tuesday we mentioned the fact that two young men named Frank Sheridan and David Rosenburg, had been arrested for a forgery perpetrated in New York, and that they had been locked up until the charge could be made out or the innocence of the accused parties made apparent. Yesterday the Mayor received a dispatch from the Business Manager in Claflin & Co.'s, New York, where the forgery is alleged to have been committed, stating that the two boys had conspired with a boy in the employ of the firm, named Archy Harden, who, with their assistance, forged two orders for kid gloves—the first for five dozen pair and the latter for six dozen, on a well known house in Philadelphia, who delivered the goods to the boys, who sold them at a reduced figure and made their escape. Officer John Rigley started last night for New York, with the two prisoners in custody.

Operation at the Homœpathic Dispensary No. 62 Fourth Street.

A very skillful surgical operation was yesterday performed at the Homœpathic dispensary, No. 62 Fourth street, by Dr. Wm. R. Childs, assisted by Dr. Jas. A. Herron. The Doctor removed an encysted tumor from the head of a man named Gee, a resident of Allegheny city. The tumor was quite large, being almost the size of a full grown apple. After the operation the man was sent to his home. We would commend this institution highly to the charitably disposed citizens of both cities. Here the poor are prescribed for and attended to by the Physicians gratuitously.

We will take pleasure in noting cases of a surgical nature treated at the dispensary from time to time, and we are glad to see the liberality displayed both by the originators, and also by the Physicians in charge.

A Dark Transaction.

Samuel Jones is possessed of a rather dusky complexion, or in other words Samuel is a gentleman of color, and by rowdy boys is sometimes called by the undignified appellation of negro. Yesterday, Samuel became imbued with a spirit of mischief—that is, Samuel's bump of destructiveness took possession of his whole organization—and he forthwith repaired to the house of Mrs. Catharine Moore, a colored lady on Fulton street, in the Sixth ward, and, according to the statement of Mrs. Moore, Samuel, without the slightest provocation, demolished the greater part of her household effects. While the work of demolition was going on, Catharine hastened to the office of Alderman Morrow and lodged an information against Samuel for malicious mischief. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Threatened to Shoot Him.—Henry Snyder owns and occupies a habitation on Pennsylvania avenue, to which came yesterday a certain John Griffin and after berating the aforesaid Snyder, he threatened to shoot Henry with a pistol. How Henry could tell whether John intended shooting him with a gun, cannon, or pistol, without seeing any weapon in his possession is more than we can conjecture, yet so the deposition of Henry states as can be seen at the office of Alderman Strain, where he made an information against Griffin for surety of the peace. The accused was arrested but was released on giving bail for a hearing.

Bitten By a Copperhead.—A little son of John Walls, Jr., of Hempfield township, Westmoreland county, was bitten on one of its fingers by a copperhead, on Monday morning last, while in a log stable on his father's premises. The child was carried to the house, and in a few moments the poison had reached the elbow. A physician was sent for, who, on his arrival, found the arm swollen to the shoulder. The proper remedies were applied, and it is hoped the child will recover. The snake was afterwards killed, and measured three feet in length.

Charged with Perjury.—William Loughry yesterday appeared before Mayor McCarthy, and made oath against one of the Harringtons, of Church alley, named Harriet, for perjury. At a recent hearing before the same magistrate—in which Loughrey was the prosecutor, and several of the Harrington family defendants, Harriet testified that she was the lawful possessor of a certain amount of real estate, which Loughry alleges he subsequently learned to be false. Harriet gave bail for a hearing to-day.

Afraid of Him.—Jeremiah Dunlevy was before Alderman Lynch yesterday, charged with surety of the peace, on oath of his wife, Sarah. In her deposition, the prosecutrix accuses Jeremiah of threatening to cut her throat. Fearing he might be tempted to carry his threat into execution, she desired the magistrate to bind him over with the strong cords of the law to ensure her safety. Her request was complied with, and Jeremiah gave $300 bail for a hearing to-day.

Recommitted.—John Loop, charged with shooting Ellis B. Sharpnack, at Mansfield, sometime since, was taken before Mayor McCarthy yesterday morning for a hearing, but a letter having been received from Sharpnack's father, stating that although his son was a great deal better, he was yet unable to leave his bed to testify, he was recommitted until Friday, August 31st. The probability is that Sharpnack will always be a cripple, as his spine is injured.

Concert and Exhibition.—The pupils of the First Congregation of Disciples will give a grand musical and literary entertainment this and to-morrow evenings in Neville Hall, corner of Liberty and Fourth streets. A rare entertainment may be anticipated by all who attend, as the scholars are very talented and proficient. Persons desirous of obtaining good seats should go early, as beyond doubt there will be a large audience attracted.

What is the Matter.—The illuminating artist at the Western Union Telegraph Office must have gone mad. We received his counterfeit presentment last night, which presented him in a fearful rage because a very small newsboy had presented him with a paper. We judge the unhappy man is laying round loose somewhere, and we would like to have any one who finds him return him to this office. Don't hurt him.

Another Accident.—Between six and seven o'clock last evening a lad named Marshall West, while playing in front of his home on Pennsylvania avenue extension, was run over by a light spring wagon driven by whom, no one who saw the accident could tell, as the driver never slackened his pace to even inquire how the little fellow was, but drove on. Fortunately the lad's injuries are not of a serious character.

Camp Meeting.—The Camp Meeting at Tarentum commences to-day, and from all the indications it will be one of the largest ever held there. Tents have been erected, and to-day all the arrangements for the accommodation of those attending will be complete. Those who wish to attend can go by the Allegheny Valley Railroad. No trains will be run on Sunday.

Child Burned.—About six o'clock last evening, Annie Bell, a little daughter of Mr. Thomas Bell, of the Seventh ward, aged six years, was severely burned by her clothing taking fire while endeavoring to light a candle at the stove. We did not learn the extent of her injuries.

Sunday School Concert.—It is the intention of the pupils of the Sunday School connected with the First Congregational Church of this city, to give a concert at Neville Hall, on this and to-morrow evening. There is no doubt that the entertainment will be a very pleasant one.

Death Warrant Signed.—The Governor has signed the death warrant for the execution of Richard Thairwell, the murderer of Houseman, in Fayette county. The execution will take place on Monday, the 1st day of October, 1866.

Weather.—The weather for several days past has been quite cool, and a considerable quantity of rain hail fallen in the surrounding country. Last night we were favored with another shower.

Appointment.—Wm. McElroy has been appointed agent for the Union Line of packets running between this city and Geneva.

Extension of the Allegheny Valley Railroad.—The work on the railroad to Brady's Bend is rapidly progressing. The greater part of the grading is already finished, and it will not be many months ere the iron horse will make its appearance at that point. The bridge over the Mahoning, a heavy piece of work, is being pushed rapidly forward, and will no doubt be finished in time so as to occasion no delay in the completion of the road.

Mayor's Levee.—There were seven cases before His Honor Mayor McCarthy, yesterday morning, three of whom were in for drunkenness, one, a woman, for vagrancy, and three for disorderly conduct. Two of the disorderlies paid fines of ten dollars each, while the remaining five were sent to jail for periods ranging from one to five days.

Wagons Standing on the Street.—M. Strang and J. C. They were allowed to depart upon paying the costs of suit, and promising not to do so any more.

THE HAPPY FAMILY.

The Democracy are in a quandary. As a party they are bankrupt, and their stock is at a ruinous discount. A new partnership was the only way in which the concern could be kept aloft at all. Being well aware of this fact, and seeing that President JOHNSON was false to the principles of the party which made him Vice President of the United States—(Booth, instigated by the rebels and the devil, made him President)—hastened to do him homage, and hitch themselves to his chariot. But JOHNSON has not been kind to the poor fellows. He would have been kinder had they been less obsequious. He is very kind to the rebels, for he knows they have some pluck. He is kind to such Republicans—thank Heaven they are very few—who are base enough to follow his lead and barter their principles for office; for he supposes they have some influence. But as for the Democrats, he feels that he has them safe anyhow, and that whether snubbed or petted, they must stick to him. Hence it was that their representative men—VALLANDIGHAM, of Ohio, FERNANDO WOOD, of New York, and DEAN, of Iowa—were thrust out of the Philadelphia Convention, and all the rest of the party who were there, had to "take back seats," while many of the more active and virulent rebels were honored with front seats, and took part in that pantomime, the mere report of which made ANDREW JOHNSON (if we may believe him) shed tears of joy. Well, it was not kind—it was hardly fair; for, low as the Democrats have sunk, we think they might at least take rank with traitors and rebels. But it seems that the President—who is responsible for all that was done in Philadelphia—thinks otherwise; and, as he is a very obstinate man, we have no expectation that anything we can say will change his opinion.

But this snubbing is likely to be general. The Democracy of Allegheny county committed itself to "My Policy;" yet somebody—some special friend or friends of the President, some members of our very small "Bread and Butter" squad—put forth, in advance of the regular Democratic Convention, a ticket to be supported by the friends of "My Policy." Now truly this was an awkward fix for a party to be in. The Post evidently felt it to be so, and squirmed vigorously to avoid being pushed off the stool. To be sure, a place on that stool is of no value in this county; but still the Old Adam in the editor became rampant at the idea of being shoved off in that style. That paper, of yesterday morning, speaking of the Democratic County Convention, which met yesterday, says:

> "This, it will be seen, gives all who believe in the present policy of President Johnson, an opportunity to act together. This invitation was wise and opportune upon the part of the committee; but it empowers no man or set of men, whatever, to arrange tickets in advance of the meeting of to-day's Convention. That meeting of delegates, direct from the people, are sovereign, totally and absolutely beyond the action of any self-constituted committee, no matter how respectable. The Democracy can in this contest afford to be generous, but the Convention must not forget that it is a Democratic gathering, called for the purpose of serving the Democratic party, and no other. It is expected to serve the Democratic party, regardless of any personal aspirations, and totally independent of any arrangements which may have been talked of or entered into by unauthorized persons."

No matter who arranged the ticket, the Democratic party to all appearances swallowed the sugar coated pill of the Johnson-Cowan clique, and adopted yesterday the entire ticket recommended by the "National Union Committe." The line is now drawn, and the Union Republicans who fought treason during the war will know whom they have to vanquish at the forthcoming election. It is a foregone conclusion that the opposition will be defeated at the polls, but there will be nothing sweet in victory unless it proves such a one as will carry with it an unusual and extraordinary majority. Let each loyal citizen work now as he did during the rebellion and our word for it, the combination scheme will never again be heard of in this section of the State.

THE EUROPEAN WAR.

When at the end of the Prussian-Danish war, the King of Prussia bought the smal State of Lauenburg from the Emperor o Austria, for a couple of millions of dollars, the Prussian Parliament refused the sanction of that measure, on the grounds, that the Government had no business to acquire territory without the consent of the Chambers. Now, these same Chambers are engaged, according to the latest telegraph news, in deliberating measures to annex territory a hundred times larger, i. e. the Kingdom of Hanover, the Electorate of Hesse-Cassel, the Grand Duchy of Nassau and the free city of Frankfort. This shows clearly that public opinion has changed with the times, and that the long, stubborn, impractical feud between the Prussian Government and the representatives of the people is at an end. The conciliatory speech of the King must necessarily satisfy the most fastidious caviler (although it seems to have very much disgusted the Parisians, on account of the great oversight of the King in making no mention of them at all) and in future we may look for a hearty co-operation of the Government and Parliament. We wish we could say the same thing of our own country, and surely if a King, by the Grace of God, yields to the popular will, a President chosen by the people and its acknowledged servant might do the same thing without disgrace. But then this President is a supporter of the Constitution, an instrument out of which the strangest things have been read. JOHNSON, for example, reads in it, that it is his duty to assist rebellious elements against the faithful preservers and supporters of the Union, and usurp a power greater than that of the Potentates of Europe.

But we wander from our text. Pardon us, kind reader, if sadness at the sight of the discordant condition caused a slight aberration from our subject, and follow us back to Europe and its affairs.

In Prussia, government and people at present work together in happy concord, and can well defy any menaces made by open and covert enemies. It is no secret that the French nation is chafing under Prussia's refusal to satisfy the French demand of a rectification of borders, and that they would hail with gratification a declaration of war on the side of their government against Prussia. The French have always been sensitive and impulsive, and of course are so now, and it is well for the peace of the world that they have a government seeing a little farther than they do themselves. NAPOLEON explained his demand of extension by the pressure of public opinion, but denied any personal disposition towards such a course, and repeatedly disavowed the allegations of the press in reference to his intentions of annexing Belgium or other States. This is rather strange; if public sentiment forced him to make the demand, it ought to be equally coercive in securing its compliance, and it is now to be seen whether NAPOLEON is strong enough to resist this public opinion, or whether the movement was merely a strategy to stir up public indignation and to yield with a good grace to its wishes by declaring war. We can scarcely believe that NAPOLEON should at present venture such a desperate game, and come back to our original conviction, that he committed nothing more nor less, than a stupendous blunder. Some men sneer at this opinion. NAPOLEON, they say, can never make such mistakes; he is too deep, too wise for such folly. Well, these people do not understand human nature. There is no man free from error, and history has a hundred demonstrations that the wisest have erred. Even SOLOMON turned to folly in his old age, and if he was not proof against it, we might safely presume that NAPOLEON was capable of committing blunders. He evidently tried to make his darts so sharp, that their points broke and they were totally insufficient. Deep cunning and folly are closely allied, and by going one step too far, NAPOLEON left the ground of the former to step on that of the latter. We think that events will bear out this opinion of ours, and that the days are fast passing away, when a word from Paris could make the Nations quiet.

The annexation of the States mentioned above is rather a necessity for Prussia, which was even conceded by France; but this is rather different with Frankfort. This city has received from the hands of the Prussians a treatment totally at variance with their common mild deportment, and tasting of the arbitrary cruelty of a TILLY or DUKE ALBA. Besides a preliminary levy of 6,000,000 of florins laid on the unfortunate city a further demand of 25,000,000 was made by MANTENFEL, the successor of FALKENSTEIN. Frankfort numbers about 75,000 inhabitants, and the above sum distributed on every householder, would subject him to the contribution of a thousand florins, or about a year's income. This is so enormous that we would not credit the news at first, as the reader will recollect; but subsequent dispatches have fixed its truth beyond doubt. Numerous efforts have been made on the side of the citizens to mollify the stern disposition of the Prussian government and to secure a reduction, but thus far their efforts have been in vain. And what is the cause of this severity so much the more striking on account of its singleness? Frankfort has always harbored a profound dislike of everything Prussian. It has done much to plunge Southern Germany into this war; it has in press and discourse abused the Prussians and their King, and by such actions naturally secured a similar disposition of the Prussians towards them. It is dangerous to provoke a victorious foe, and Frankfort is now reaping what it has so freely sowed. Yet we are far from defending the conduct of Prussia in this instance, which is at the same time savage and impolitic. In Frankfort Prussia offends Germany, and by this severity lays obstacles in the perfect union, which it pretends so much to desire. War is an evil, and, as some say, a necessary one; yet it is the opinion generally adopted, that unnecessary cruelties are to be avoided. It is, therefore, to be regretted that Prussia should thus sully the newly acquired glory of its arms.

The peace negotiations are progressing satisfactorily and the final ratification was according to the latest news expected in ten days. This we knew and asserted, because we could not imagine that Prussia would have ventured to lose golden opportunities, without sufficient guaranties, of a cessation of war and the ratification of a desirable war. It would be idle to speak about the conditions of peace, because nothing whatever is known about it. Some papers assert that Prussia demands a control over the whole of Germany, others assert that she contemplates a Northern Union whose Southern border would be the river Rhine. For this intended division she is bitterly assailed, but in our opinion these calculations are idle, because they are nothing but castles built in the air. If Prussia can secure a union of the whole of Germany she will undoubtedly prefer it; but she can not certainly be blamed for not desiring a union with elements filled with deadly enmity against them. If Prussia leaves the South in the cold, she does it probably with the intention that the South cannot get along without the North and to make them a little more pliable by experience and losses. A dissolution of the Tollverein (union of costumes) would be the ruin of the flourishing trade of Nurnberg, Ratisbon and other manufacturing towns of the South and a lesson that affects the purse is generally more instructive than any other.

From Italy we hear the report that the government is about to negotiate with the Pope for the cession of his temporal dominions and a removal of the seat of government to Rome. This news is also important and satisfactory, as it makes no mention of French mediation. It would be too bad if the poor Parisians should experience a second neglect and be disregarded in the settlement of the Italian question, as they have been in the German one. But such things cannot be helped, and have to be borne, and if the chivalric nation should be comforted by sincere sympathy, we would assure them of our warm condolence.

THE New York Daily News gives utterance to its grief and indignation over the triumph of the Bread-and-Butter Brigade in the Wigwam, by saying that—

> "It is not necessary to be the abject slaves of expediency. It may be necessary to stoop to conquer, and we admit that many precious Southern rights have to be regained by conquest in political warfare, but not to stoop so low; not to crawl to conquer."

MR. B. F. MEYERS is the democratic and conservative candidate for State Senator in the Bedford district.

Democratic County Convention.

The delegates appointed by the Democrats at the primary elections held on Saturday last, met in Convention yesterday at the Court House, for the purpose of placing in nomination a Congressional candidate and a county ticket to be voted for at the regular October elections. The attendance was quite large, every election district being represented.

William Linn, Esq., Chairman of the Democratic County Executive Committee, called the Convention to order in a few brief remarks, in which he took occasion to state for the information of some impulsive delegates that it was his right and duty to do so.

On motion, Hon. R. P. Flenniken was made temporary chairman, and Jacob Whitsell, John C. Barr, J. Wright, and W. J. Farley, Secretaries.

On taking the chair, Mr. Flenniken said he did not propose to make a speech, but he only wished to advise them to act harmoniously together, that the good work might be prosecuted in peace and concord, until all the distracted elements in the country should be harmoniously brought together.

Several nominations for Vice Presidents of the Convention was now made, but ere a vote could be taken, J. R. Hunter arose to a point of order and insisted that the credentials of the different delegations be first handed to the Secretaries, who would call them in order according to parliamentary usages.

The Chair sustained Mr. Hunter and requested the delegates to hand in their credentials.

After some time occupied in this important duty, the roll was called, showing the following districts to be represented.

When the roll had been called, R. H. Kerr moved that George W. Cass be made permanent President by acclamation. The Chair put the question and it was carried without a dissenting voice.

General Cass on assuming the Presidency, returned his thanks for the honor conferred upon him by the Convention, in calling him to preside over their deliberations. He, too, expressed a hope that their proceedings would be characterized by harmony and good feeling. He said he was not prepared to make a speech, and he did not propose to occupy their valuable time with one. One radical Convention he said was enough for one year, and he hoped that conservatism would prevail among them, that the programme inaugurated at Philadelphia would be carried out by them in their action to-day.

The following gentlemen were then elected as Vice Presidents: Henry McCullough, Micheal McCabe, Adam Reineman and James H. Gibson.

F. M. Hutchinson moved that a Committee of five be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sense of the Convention.

The motion prevailed and the Chair named the following gentleman to serve on that Committee:

F. M. Hutchinson, R. P. Flennikin, S. J. Keenan, R. H. Kerr and Frank Sellers.

There being two sets of delegates from the Tenth ward, a committee was appoited to investigate the claims of the contestants. After a brief absence the committee reported in favor of John Conners, and John Mish, rejecting the claim of Alderman John A. Strain and his colleague.

John Coyle, Esqr., moved that the name of John Conners be stricken from the roll, and that of John A. Strain be added. The Chair ruled the motion out of order after which Alderman Strain said he withdrew his name.

Mr. Conners remarked that the action of the committee had already ruled him out of the Convention.

T. J. Keenan then offered the following preamble and resolution, which amid some confusion he read aloud.

WHEREAS, A Citizens' Anti-Radical ticket, as presented in this morning's Daily Post, composed entirely of gentlemen of liberal principles, and undoubted integrity and ability, had been selected by the joint action of the various Anti-Radical Committees of the county, to be voted for at the coming election, and has been recommended to this Convention by our Democratic county Committee, in case we should decline to nominate a straight Democratic ticket—and as it is the earnest desire of this Convention, and also that of our constituents, that a complete and harmonious union be effected of all the conservative elements of the county, so as to insure the defeat of the Radical or Republican ticket—and believing that this can be accomplished only by our declining to make separate nominations, and advising the support of the Citizens' ticket aforesaid, therefore

Resolved, That this Convention, representing the Democracy of Allegheny county, forbear to put in nomination for the October election a strict Democratic county ticket, and recommend our constituents to give a united, determined and zealous support to the whole of the Citizens' Anti-Radical ticket, selected and recommended as aforesaid.

At the conclusion of the reading of the preamble and resolutions, considerable confusion ensued, in the midst of which R. H. Kerr asked the privilege to state a point of order. Mr. Keenan refused to yield the floor at first, but finally gave way, and Mr. Kerr proceeded to make a speech, the only portion of which we could learn was something about lamp posts. After several interruptions by delegates, the Chair called the speaker to order, stating that Mr. Kerr had not the floor to make a speech, but to explain a point of order. A number of delegates here took the floor and attempted to be heard. Eventually Mr. Keenan made himself heard above the clamor, and made a motion for the previous question, which was seconded by J. H. Sawyer. J. H. Kerr here gained the attention of the President, and said he opposed the ticket on the ground that the rule of the Democratic party had been to select two committees from the South side of the river for Assembly, and the ticket alluded to had only one.

The Chairman decided the point not well taken, and stated that the ticket referred to was not to be nominated by the Convention but simply to be recommended for support.

Col. A. J. Gibson expressed a belief that under the ruling of the President this was not a Democratic Convention. If it was it should be governed by democratic rules.

The President answered that he knew the rules perfectly, and he should abide by them in all his decisions as long as he occupied the chair.

After some further discussion in which John H. Sawyer, J. H. Kerr, John N. M'Clowry, and Col. Kerr participated, the Chair put to a vote the previous question. The vote being unsatisfactory, the yeas and nays were called for by John Conners.

The Secretaries proceeded to call the roll, when they were interrupted by R. H. Kerr, who was called to order by the President. The calling of the roll was then resumed, and at its conclusion the following vote was announced: For the preamble and resolution, 114; against, 26. The result was received with continued applause which lasted for several minutes. A motion was made to adjourn until half past 1 o'clock, pending which the President requested the Committee on Resolutions to withdraw in order to make up their report.

R. H. Kerr requested that his name be stricken off the Committee on Resolutions. The chair refused to recognize the request, and announced that the Convention stand adjourned until half past one o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reassembled and was called to order by the Chairman, Gen. G. W. Cass, at about two o'clock.

The Chairman then announced that the first thing in order would be the report of the Committee on Resolutions.

Thomas J. Keenan then submitted the following, which were adopted unanimously:

Resolved, That the "Declaration of Principles" and the address adopted by the late National Union Convention at Philadelphia, meets our hearty approval, and embodies sentiments, which, if adopted and put in practice by the nation, will restore our distracted country to union, peace, prosperity and happiness. The action of that Convention shows that "the unerring finger of Providence" guided them in all their deliberations.

Resolved, That in our nominee for Governor, the Honorable Heister Clymer, the patriotic and conservative men of the State have a candidate in whom they may repose the utmost confidence as a statesman of sound principles, unswerving integrity and tried ability.

Resolved, That the Conservative men of the country more than all others, have reason to, and do appreciate the distinguished services rendered this country during the late rebellion by our brave soldiers and sailors, whose valor and patriotic devotion have preserved to us our glorious Constitutional Union—and by their united and patriotic support, we expect to maintain it.

On motion of Colonel Kerr the committee were discharged.

Mr. Keenan moved that the chair appoint the Democratic Executive County Committee, to be composed of one member from each district. Carried.

The announcement of the committee will be made at some future day.

"Benton" Kerr made a motion which was adopted that the thanks of the Convention be tendered the chairman and officers for the able manner in which the proceedings of the Convention had been conducted.

"Benton" Kerr also asked and obtained permission to offer the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That Pennsylvania is of right entitled to a Cabinet officer, and we respectfully call the attention of the President to this fact, and in the event of the war office being vacated by Mr. Stanton, we recommend the appointment of General George W. Cass for that position, being every way qualified to discharge the duties.

A motion was then made that the Convention divide for the purpose of nominating a Congressional candidate for the Twenty-second District, and for the selection of conferees for the Twenty-third District.

Those members of the Convention who live south of the Allegheny and Ohio rivers remained, while those living north of those rivers adjourned to meet immediately up stairs.

As soon as order could be somewhat restored the Convention again organized by placing T. J. Keenan, Esq., in the Chair, and appointing Mr. John C. Barr, as Secretary.

General J. Bowman Sweitzer was then placed in nomination as the Congressional candidate, and was declared unanimously to be elected.

The ticket as nominated stands as follows:

Congress, Twenty-Second District—General J. Bowman Sweitzer.
Sheriff—Joseph Ross.
Clerk of the Court—Colonel Robert Anderson.
Clerk of Orphans' Court—Captain Samuel Fullwood.
Recorder—Capt. Andrew Large.
Register—John Small, city.
Commissioner—John Shaw, Shaler.
Director of the Poor—Jacob Kiel, Sharpsburg.
Assembly—Samuel McKee, Pitt township; James Blackmore, city; John P. Heisel, Birmingham; Joseph C. Buffum, Lawrenceville; Hall Patterson, city; Dr. F. Hardtmeyer, Allegheny.

General Sweitzer being loudly called for, came forward and addressed the Convention. We give a brief synopsis of his remarks:

Mr. President, gentlemen of the Convention and fellow citizens: I need not say how deeply I am impressed with the honor you have conferred upon me in selecting me as your candidate for Congress. As I shall have frequent opportunities of meeting you between this time and the day of the election, I need not say more than that I will use my best efforts to elect the ticket selected. I will do my best to requite you for the honor you have done me. But our obligations are mutual. It is for you to co-operate with me in the work that is before us. It is one thing to nominate a ticket, and another to elect it. If we all go to work with a determination to succeed, there is but little doubt but that we will succeed. There has never been such an opportunity offered for success. The people are tired of the rule of the radicals, or rather of the fruits their misrule has brought upon us, and I think that we have taken the initiatory steps towards a change. We have not acted in a hide bound manner as Democrats, but have selected a platform, wide enough and deep enough for all to stand upon, and if we act with unanimity, who can doubt the result? There is no doubt but that all of you approve of the Reconstruction policy of the late Convention. There are a few who have made the negro their God, and have depressed all others in order to secure his elevation. They told us that the war was for the Union. Every act of theirs has been to break down and degrade the white man, in order to secure the social and political equality of the negro. You are all acquainted with the political record of Edgar A. Cowan, and he is the man whom we wish to send back to Congress. Let every man do his duty, in season and out of season for the success of the ticket. We want those to represent us in Congress who believe that President Johnson is pursuing the right policy to bring about Union and Peace. We want reliable men. I will not say that I am one of them, but will merely refer you to my past record. I pledge myself that if elected, I will act for your interests to the best of my ability. I thank you again for the high honor you have conferred upon me, and pledge myself to use my best efforts to secure, not only my own election, but the election of the entire ticket.

Amid great confusion, and repeated cries of "Mr. President," the Convention then adjourned.

TWENTY-THIRD CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The delegates from the Twenty-third district assembled in the Grand Jury room, and organized by calling Col. James A. Gibson, of Pine township, to the chair, and appointing Jacob Whitsell, Esq., Secretary.

The President then announced that the nomination of Congressional Conferees was now in order, when the following were nominated: Col. James A. Gibson, Captain W. A. Kountz, Col. A. M'F. Johnston, William H. M'Gee, Adam Reineman, Benj. Crawford, Dr. A. G. M'Quaid.

The delegates then proceeded to mark for a choice, which resulted in the election of Col. James A. Gibson, Capt. W. J. Kountz and Adam Reineman.

The convention then adjourned sine die. A collection was taken up for the janitor, by the members of both bodies before the final adjournment.

Confederate Vessel Shenandoah Sold.

EXTRA BOUNTY APPLICATIONS.

REMOVAL OF JUDGE HOLT PROBABLE.

Concerning Secretary Stanton.

THE PRESIDENT AND HIS SUPPORTERS.

NEW YORK, August 22.—The morning papers have the following Washington specials: The Treasury Department has received a draft on Baring & Bros., of England, for the amount of £11,844, 16s and 10d sterling, as the proceeds of the sale of the Confederate vessel Shenandoah. The draft has been sent to New York, with directions to deposit the amount to the credit of the United States, as proceeds from the sale of surrendered and abandoned property.

The attention of the Treasury authorities was attracted about the year 1863 to the propriety of appointing Custom agents at the different ports of the United States to examine the effects of passengers arriving from foreign ports, as sufficient evidence had been received to show that large quantities of dutiable goods were introduced in a manner contraband to law. A statement of the amounts of duties thus collected have been made for the port of New York, which exhibits the following as the sums collected since 1862: In the year 1862 $801,940 were collected on the docks; in 1863, $978,536; in 1864, $878,212; in 1865, $2,825,616, and up to the end of July of the present year, $1,165,472, making a total of duties on the docks from the passengers of steamers, $6,649,776.

The Commissioner of Indian affairs has recently received many highly satisfactory reports from Indian agents on the frontier. They generally represent that the tribes that have affected treaties with the Government are desirous of perpetuating them, and manifest an intense hatred toward those who have violated their pledges by attacking emigrants and settlers.

The Paymaster General's Department is daily receiving five hundred to one thousand applications for extra bounty under the equalization act. As the Military Board having in charge the preparation of rules and regulations affecting the disbursement of the sixty millions of dollars has not yet reported, these claims will probably remain on file for some months yet. It is stated that Paymaster General Brice will officially inform all interested in this appropriation as soon as their accounts shall be ready for adjustment.

The President has directed a pardon to be made out for Charles M. Conrad, of Louisiana, a member of the rebel Congress. Mr. Conrad was Secretary of War of the United States under the administration of President Fillmore.

A Times special says it is stated upon good authority that Judge Holt, Judge Advocate General, will be superceded in a few days. His successor is not named.

A Herald special says: I have it from good authority that Secretary Stanton will not resign until he has given to Congress, at its next session, his report of the operations of his department during the recent rebellion. He will receive a foreign mission, it may be to Spain or Russia.

PHILADELPHIA, August 22.—Dispatches from Washington say: There is nothing new in regard to Mr. Stanton's resignation or removal. It is believed that the President will await the result of the Pennsylvania election, and in case of the defeat of Mr. Cowan as Senator, that gentleman will take Mr. Stanton's place in the Cabinet. If Mr. Stanton resigns before that time General Grant will be Acting Secretary. On the other hand, it is said Mr. Stanton will not resign until he has given to Congress the report of the operations of his Department during the rebellion. Then he will receive a foreign mission, it may be to Spain or Russia.

Secretary Seward, in a dispatch to General Kilpatrick, announces as the policy of the United States, that while maintaining a strict neutrality between belligerents, the Government will insist that the republican system which is accepted by any South American State, shall not be wantonly assailed and subverted as an end of a lawful war by European powers.

The National Republican Executive Committee will meet in Philadelphia on the 4th of September, to elect a Chairman in place of Henry J. Raymond, whose support of the President rendered him obnoxious to his colleagues on the Committee.

President Johnson announces that in the fall elections he will assist those who support his policy.

New York dispatches from Ottawa say that the Fenians are operating at Malone and Niagara. The impression still prevails in Canada that the Fenian pic nic was a blind to cover other movements.

There was no decided change in general merchandize yesterday, but current quotations show some decline, as compared with a few days ago, both of foreign and domestic goods. Business was dull generally on 'Change. Flour ruled lower; wheat a shade easier; corn lower; pork firmer; beef steady; lard dull; in the grocery market business was small at unchanged prices.

FROM EUROPE BY MAIL.

Russian Troops Threatening Prussia—Extension of Prussian Territory—Proposed Seizure of the Grand Duchy of Posen.

NEW YORK, August 22.—The Journal de Havre, August 8, says: News came from different quarters that Russia is making great concentrations of troops on the frontiers of Germany, and this military manifestation appears designed to exercise a pressure on Prussia.

The Russian journals make use of language tending to confirm the authenticity of the intelligence in question. In considering the situation which Prussia has just created for herself in Germany, the Muscovite press declares that Russia does not fear the extension of the power of the Hohenzollerns, but that she ought nevertheless to direct her attention to it.

The Moscow Gazette, the journal of M. Katkoff, devotes to this question a remarkable article. The following are some of the principal passages: "Nobody in Russia, for the moment at least, fears Prussia, even with her needle guns. But if that power places herself at the head of all Germany, the Russian Government will find it impossible not to come to a reckoning with a state which has become so considerable. The sound policy of statesmen in Russia can never wait for a combination by which Prussia might become a dangerous neighbor; therefore Russia ought to take time by the forelock."

Here is the great point of the article, the writer of which enjoys a moral authority in Russia great as that of the Government. He says: "No, the policy of the conquest peculiar to Count Bismark does not yet terrify us, but the augmentation of the power of a neighboring State, and above all the conditions of European equilibrium which are incessantly varying, imposes on us the necessity of demanding compensations proportioned to the situation of Prussia in Europe." M. Katkoff advises the Russians to profit by the occasion, to seize on the Grand Dutchy of Posen.

THE CHOLERA.

NEW YORK, August 22.—Reports of yesterday showed a slight decrease in the number of new cases of cholera in the city, and a rather more severe mortality from the same cause. There were twelve new cases and eighteen deaths reported.

In Brooklyn, the disease continues to decline, and hopes are entertained that it will disappear at an early day.

General Sickles, commanding at Charleston, having inquired of Mayor Hoffman whether New York was an infected city, Dr. Harris replied unhesitatingly that this city is not infected.

CINCINNATI, August 22.—Fifty-three deaths from cholera were reported yesterday.

London and Continental Exchange sold at New York rates.

Gold, Silver and Coupons bought at highest rates, and Gold Drafts issued on New York.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

WEDNESDAY, August 22, 1866.

The New York stock quotations to-day were as follows: Gold, 149; 1881 bonds 111⅝; 5-20s, old, 109¾; 5-20s, new, 108½; 10-40s, 101½; 7-30s, old, 110; 7-30s, new, 106. Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad, 86¼; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, 104¼; Erie Railroad, 73½; Western Union Telegraph Company, 58¼; Chicago & Rock Island, 107½; Michigan Southern Railroad, 85¼.

Wall street is reported as having been somewhat excited to-day, gold having sold down to 147½, and suddenly advanced to 149, owing to rumors of war between Russia and Prussia, and an unusual demand for legitimate purposes.

Government bonds declined about one half per cent to-day, but the pressure to sell at the decline is by no means urgent. The heavy disbursements to be made by the United States Treasury within a few days, should naturally tend to higher prices, though shrewd operators are selling now instead of buying.

—The aspect of monetary affairs throughout the country is decidedly improving, judging from the reports of our Western and other exchanges. The wheat harvest is gathered successfully, and in the great West proves the largest crop, in point of weight and quality, for very many years. The growing corn crop is looking so well as to hasten to the seaboard very large supplies of last year's growth. The tobacco crop in Virginia and throughout the Southwest, including an important strip of the State of Indiana bordering on the Ohio river, will probably turn out the most important in its results, known for the last six or eight years. From the cotton States the reports continue almost universally encouraging, and the crop, for the breath of land planted, will be, from present appearances, equal to the best years of the old slavelabor system. About the extent of planting, opinions, of course, differ widely.

—The New York Commercial Advertiser affirms the sale of gold for customs as the known policy of Mr. McCulloch, that in the event of speculation rendering gold very scarce for customs purposes, an amount of gold will be sold by the Treasury about equal to the daily receipts. If this is true, as stated the decline of the gold premium is accounted for.

—The following comparative statement shows the average condition of the leading items of the Philadelphia banks for the past and previous week:

| | Last week. | This week. | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Capital........ | $14,642,150 | $14,642,150 | |
| Loans.......... | 49,164,321 | 48,530,454 | Dec. $633,867 |
| Specie......... | 835,108 | 811,250 | Dec. 24,928 |
| Legal-tend'rs | 20,060,535 | 19,863,686 | Dec. 196,849 |
| Deposits...... | 36,609,226 | 36,942,311 | Inc. 333,085 |
| Circulation.... | 9,543,427 | 9,566,783 | Inc. 23,311 |

The bank statement rules very even for the past week, the most marked change being a decrease of 633,867 in loans, and an increase of $333,085 in deposits. The legal tenders fell off $196,849 and the specie $23,928. There is again a further increase in circulation.

—The Titusville Herald of Tuesday says: The producing market was very much excited this morning, owing to the alleged sale of 3,000 barrels at 10 cents per gallon, on Saturday afternoon, to Clark, Penn & Co., of Cleveland. This oil was asserted to be the whole stock on the Hyde & Egbert Farm. Prices ruled as high as $4 per barrel about 10 o'clock, and the news of the large destruction of oil in New York by fire arrived, which added to the excitement. Buyers, however, were afraid to move, not being confident that this loss would have any material effect on the market. The telegrams in the afternoon showing an advance of one cent in New York made producers a little more willing to sell, and one or two sales were effected at $4@4,10. The amount of oil destroyed in New York is not definitely ascertained. The best informed dealers, however, do not estimate it over 15,000 barrels, which of course would have but a temporary effect on the market.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, August 22, 1866.

There is no new feature in commercial circles worthy of special notice. The receipts of Grain have been unusually large for some days past, particularly Wheat and Oats, and the latter, in consequence, may be quoted lower. There is less excitement in Flour, while Groceries and Provisions are reported steady with a fair jobbing demand. In other articles, there is no new characteristic worthy of particular mention.

GRAIN—Wheat is coming in pretty freely, but as yet, prices are sustained—and quotations may be fairly given at $2,25 to $2,30 for Spring, and $2,60 to $2,65 for Winter. Oats may be quoted at 45 to 50, on track, for old and new. Sales of 700 bush new, in lots, at 47 to 50. Corn is quoted at 75 to 80, for mixed and prime yellow. Rye is selling at 90 to 95. No movement in Barley.

MILL FEED—Continues firm but unchanged; sale of 5 tons shipstuffs at $1,05, and 5 do Bran at $1,05. Middlings in light supply, and may be quoted firm at $1,65 to $1,75, as to quality.

FLOUR—Is steady with a moderate local demand, but the market is devoid of excitement. We continue to quote at $10,75 to $11,50 for Spring Wheat, and $12,50 to $13 for Winter Wheat. Sales of "Crossets" reported at $11,50, and "White Star" at $12. Rye Flour and Corn-meal unchanged.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is unchanged at 17@17½ for Shoulders; 19@20 for Ribbed Sides and 25 to 26 for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is quiet but firm at 22 to 22½, for prime kettle. Mess Pork quoted at $33,50, and Dried Beef, 27@28.

CHEESE—Is reported steady with regular sales at 15 to 16 for Western Reserve; 16 to 17 for Hamburg and 21 for York State Goshen.

EGGS—Demand is more active and the market may be quoted firm at 18 to 20 for fresh packed.

BUTTER—Continues quiet and unchanged. The speculative feeling which prevailed some weeks since, seems to have subsided, and the demand now is for immediate consumption. Prime fresh packed is selling at 28 to 30.

APPLES—Continue excessively dull, the supply being large and the demand very much restricted. Small sales at $2, to $2,50 per barrel.

SALT—Is quoted firm and scarce, at $2,60 to $2,65, on track, and $2,75 for small lots from store.

SEEDS—Flax Seed is in demand and might command an advance, but there is none in market. No movement in other descriptions.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, August 22, 1866.

CRUDE—There was next to nothing done in the Crude market to-day, comparatively speaking, which is owing mainly to the fact that buyers and sellers are still apart in their views. The latter are endeavoring to establish a still further advance, thus far without success, while the former, where it is possible, seem determined to hold off in anticipation of a break-down and lower prices. We can report a sale of one thousand barrels for September delivery, at 16; and there was also a sale of another thousand for future delivery, at the same price. Some few holders, we understand, had the hardihood to ask 16½ and 17, but up to this writing we are not aware of any sales having been effected above 16. The advices from Oil City are conflicting, quoting at from $4,75 to $5 per bbl at that point.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil continues quiet but apparently firm, and this afternoon advices from Philadelphia, reported a firmer feeling and rather more inquiry. We heard of offers to buy for August at 44; September, 44½; Oct. 44½@45, and November, 45 to 45½; which compared with yesterday's quotations, show a slight improvement. Sale of 500 barrels reported for December at 46. The demand for free oil continues very light, being restricted almost entirely to supplying the immediate wants of the retail trade.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

Hops in New York.

On the 3d of September the hop-picking season will commence generally throughout the hop district of this State, although most of the yards will not be touched before the 10th. A few growers may commence picking on the 27th inst. That hop picking, as a general thing, has been commenced too early in the season our most intelligent and expert growers are well convinced. The hop is not so good as when left to mature, and the vine is injured by excessive bleeding. The prospects are good for a very fair yield. We estimate the crop for this country at about 3,000,000 pounds, or 15,000 bales, which, at an average of say 32 cents a pound, will amount to $960,000. The entire crop of the State may be safely estimated at about ten millions of pounds, over two millions less than in 1865. [Cooperstown F. Journal, 18th.]

Cincinnati Iron Market.

CINCINNATI, August 20.—The market for pig iron remains quiet, though there is no pressure to sell, and prices are maintained. Stock here are not large, and any improvement in the demand would cause an advance. We quote hot blast $47@48 per ton for mill iron, $50@52 for No. 1, the latter an extreme price, and obtained only for the best brands. Cold blast is quoted $53@55 for Tennessee, $55@60 for Missouri, and $68@70 per ton for car wheel, but the transactions are light. Bar iron is unchanged and steady. We quote common and charcoal 5¼@6¼c per lb. There is an improved demand for horse and mule shoes, though we have no change to make in quotations. Shenbergers extra are quoted 8@8½c per lb for horse, and 9@9½ for mule shoes.

New York Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, August 22.—The market was active, and stocks opened briskly. Prints—Merrimack W. 21; Sprague, 19; Wauregan, 18; Donnell, 18½; Wamsutta, 14½; Empire, 12. Brown Drills—Amoskeag, 24; Boot Mills, 25; Stark H, 20; Winthrop, 18. Ginghams—Lancaster, 27½; Glasgow, 26; Hartford, 22½, Manchester, 20. ## MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Money and Stock Market.

[By Telegraph.]

NEW YORK, August 22.—There was an increased demand for money, owing to the locking up of a large amount of gold by the combination in the gold room, and some weak and needy borrowers were compelled to pay 6 per cent. on call loans, but the bulk of the business was at 4@5 per cent. On Governments and Stock collaterals there can be no stringency for any length of time, in view of the heavy disbursements to be made by the Treasury Department next week. Prime discounts range from 5½ to 6½ per cent. The Gold market closed up at 1,49@1,49¼, after a day of considerable activity and some excitement. The Exchange market was extremely dull to-day owing to the difficulty in getting cash gold to make payments with. The Government securities have been quiet during the afternoon, and prices were ½ per cent. lower in some cases. The following were the closing prices: 104½@103½ for Ten-Forties; Coupons, 101½@102 for August; Seven-Thirties, 106½@106¾.

At the last Board the market for Railways was weak in the New York roads, but generally firm on the Western shares, particularly Michigan Southern, Rock Island and Pittsburgh.

At the afternoon Board the Petroleum stocks were dull. The Mining list was less active, and Consolidated Gregory fell off one dollar per share, but the other stocks were generally steady.

The Commercial's money article says: The stock market shows more activity, but at lower prices at the regular board. There was considerable realized on the leading roads, and especially in Reading, Cleveland and Pittsburg, which had the effect of weakening other stocks. Erie is apparently being depressed for the purpose of buying in the stock, and fell off 1⅛, compared with the second board of yesterday. Governments are somewhat depressed, contrary to the tendency of the advance of 5-20s at London yesterday. Two million Bonds there now are 2 per cent. above the quotations here.

The upward turn of gold has had some effect in producing this result. Seven-thirties, first and second series, are ¼ lower, and third series and 10-40s of '65 are down ⅛. The Money Market shows a reaction from the slight disposition to firmness noted yesterday. The Banks are offering money received from the sub-treasury, and on terms which indicate an anticipation of a very easy market. Leading brokers find no difficulty in borrowing at 4 per cent. on ordinary stock collections.

The Post's money article says: Gold is excited to-day. The supply of coin is held firmly, as much as ¼ per cent. having been paid by borrowers. The price rose from 147½ to 148. The loan market is more active, at 5@6 per cent.

The stock market is quiet and irregular. Governments are less inquired for among investors, but all offered are bought up by strong parties at full rates. Railroad shares are irregular, with more disposition to sell. After the board Erie sold at 73.

At the four o'clock open Board the following were the sales: New York Central, 104¼; Erie, 73½; Michigan Central, 113; Illinois Central, 122½; Chicago and Rock Island, 108¼; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 104⅝. Gold closed at 149⅝.

The market is in limited supply and a shade firmer; sales of 56,000 bushels at 81@82c for Interior; 83@84c for shipping mixed Western, chiefly at 84½c for the latter, and $1,03 for small lots of White Western. ## RIVER NEWS.

The river remains about stationary at this point, with two feet in the channel by the pier marks last evening. The weather continues cloudy and unsettled, with every appearance of more rain.

Heavy rains are reported west of here within the past day or two, and both the Big and Little Beaver Rivers were putting out pretty strongly on Tuesday. It is thought, by some that we will soon have a swell in the Allegheny, but of this there no certainty, especially at this season of the year.

The Forest City, from Wheeling, arrived and departed, having all the freight she could carry both ways. The Ida Rees, from Cincinnati, was at Glass House, and she may possibly have reached the wharf last night.

The Cincinnati Gazette of Tuesday says: "Capt. Wm. S. Evans, formerly of the Nevada, has been appointed Superintendent of the Allegheny river packets, the different lines having been consolidated."

This is news here, and especially to Capt. Evans himself. If such an appointment has been made, he has received no information of the fact.

Capt. James Mellon, is to have charge of the office on Capt. Hare's new boat. We regret to learn that Mr. James Wilson, a well-known steamboat steward, has been ill with billious fever for some weeks past at his residence in Allegheny. It is thought, however, that he will recover, having, in the language of his physician, passed the critical point.

Capt. R. C. Gray, who the Cincinnati Commercial has dubbed the famous "snipe bagger of the West," is among the late arrivals here. Up to this time we have not heard of any of the shipments of "snipes" which he is reported to have made from the west to the city, having reached here. Perhaps, to use a steamboat phrase, they have been "unavoidably delayed."

The Louisville Courier of Tuesday says: We took a good look at the river yesterday, and in fact we look at it every day, and like to see it, and must say that it did look a little green along either bank, but tinged from shore to shore with a deep, etherial, beautiful blue. We have had a sort of antipathy to blue for some time past, but admit that the river was really beautiful, and affirm that there is nothing green about it beyond the shade or reflection of the foliage of the trees on its pure bosom. If any one of the Cincinnati reporters should happen to fall overboard, then there would be "something green in the river."

We learn from the officers of the Victor that the Kate Robinson, from Memphis, ran on a reef or pile of rocks at Stephensport; where she lodged hard and fast. That accounts for her nonarrival yesterday.

Says Tuesday's St. Louis Democrat:

We hear that the carpenter of the Southwestern died yesterday morning of cholera, and that there have been several cases up the Illinois, on the Amaranth, Beardstown and Lotus, but no cases at all in the towns along the Illinois river. Mr. James R. Shaler returned from Pennsylvania yesterday. He has resigned his position of clerk of the Olive Branch, and we learn has accepted an excellent position tendered to him. On shore Mr. Shaler bears the reputation of being one of the best business men ever acting as the officer of a western or southern river steamboat.

Says Tuesday's Cincinnati Commercial:

Mr. William Murphy, of the house of Pearce, Reno, Grover & Co., left for New York last evening, where he intends to enter into business. We wish him success. The Steamboat Mate's Association hold their annual election of officers at their rooms this morning at 9 o'clock. The tow-boat Robert passed down, yesterday, with a tow of coal from Pittsburgh for Louisville. Dispatches received yesterday report the sinking of the Pocahontas in Missouri River. She was insured in Cincinnati for $7,500. Capt. Selby, and others of the Clermont, have purchased the Mary Ament for the Cincinnati and New Richmond daily trade. Capt. Sam. Barr, jr., late of the office of the Northern Line, packet Burlington, passed through the city, yesterday, en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh. The Mates' Benevolent Association hold their annual meeting on the 21st instant, for election of officers.

The Gazette of the same date says:

The Importer, Capt. John Ness, which left Parkersburg at one o'clock Friday P. M. arrived here at one o'clock yesterday. She lost three nights by fog, and remained at Wheeling during Saturday. She had no freight for this port but takes 200 kegs of nails to Louisville, the bulk of her freight being for St. Louis. Capt. James Mellon, formerly of the Nevada, has charge of her office.

The Porter of the Lorena, a light mulatto, about 20 years of age, died of cholera on Saturday, and was buried at the foot of Grassy Flats, fifteen miles above Louisville. The officers of the boat do not know his name or residence. He was lately engaged on the Sherman.

A case of six years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP

PITTSBURGH, January 11, 1860.

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a lung cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought, the first time, a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself for a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON, Alderman, Fifth Ward.

PITTSBURGH, April 24, 1857.

READ THE TRUTH.—DR. KEYSER:—I have a daughter who has taken several medicines for a bad cough without benefit, among them Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I purchased from you a bottle of your Pectoral Syrup, and before she had used half a bottle she was relieved. The second bottle cured her entirely of her cough.

JOHN DARIN, Robinson street, Allegheny.

PITTSBURGH, December 31.

A GREAT CURE BY DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP.—I live in Peebles township, Allegheny county. I had a cough and a spitting, which commenced about the 4th of February last, and continued eight months. I employed the best physicians in the country, and my cough continued unabated until early in October. At that time I was advised to try your Pectoral Cough Syrup, which I did, and after I had taken one bottle I was entirely free from the coughing and spitting. I had despaired of ever getting well, and I think it should be known that this valuable remedy will do for others what it has done for me.

JOHN C. LITTLE, Peebles township.

Witness, [illegible] KERR.

PATTON TOWNSHIP, April 14, 1848.

A WONDERFUL CURE.—Some time ago an old neighbor of mine was very ill with a bad cough, which every one supposed to be consumption. His relatives told me that he had taken every remedy they heard of without benefit; his brother came to see him one day, and it was feared he could not live. I had about the third of a bottle of your Pectoral syrup, which I gave him, and it entirely cured him, to the astonishment of all. What makes the case more remarkable is the extreme age of the man, he being about eighty years old. I have no doubt the Pectoral saved his life.

JOHN McGINNIS.

DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP IN BLAIRSVILLE.—Please send me another supply of your valuable Pectoral Syrup. Almost everybody around us has the cold, and are enquiring for "Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup." We have sold sixteen bottles the last week, and have now none left. Mr. A. Alter and Mr. P. Maher, both of Blairsville, Pa., told us they would not be without it in their families. In fact, all who use it want it again.

Yours, respectfully,

J. S. WATTERSON & SONS.

January 30, 1860.

PITTSBURGH, November 18, 1858.

DR. KEYSER:—Although not an advocate of Patent Medicines, in general, it affords me pleasure indescribable to recommend your PECTORAL SYRUP. As a medicine, it is well worthy the attention of any person who may in any manner be afflicted with coughs, colds and hoarseness of any kind, and for the peculiar qualifications for removing all that disagreeable sensation attending a severe cold.

I have been, more or less in my life, affected with the severest of colds and hoarseness. At times my throat would become so closed as to prevent my speaking above a whisper, and by taking a few doses of the above Syrup it would relieve me entirely.

In recommending this medicine, I most unhesitatingly say that it is the best remedy I ever found purporting to cure the above, nor should any family be without this remedy for diseases so prevalent.

Yours, most respectfully,

EDWARD J. JONES, Cashier Citizens' Deposit Bank.

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, March 14, 1855.

I have used Dr. Keyser's Cough Syrup for a bad cough of several years standing, and can cheerfully say it is the best medicine for the same that I have ever taken.

J. W. PRICE.

COL. PRATT AND DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP.—DR. KEYSER—Dear Sir: Excuse the delay of my acknowledging the excellence of your Pectoral Syrup sooner. I take great pleasure in saying that it is all you say it is. It knocked the noise out of my cough, and the worst one I was ever afflicted with. I have not used more than one-half of a bottle, and I can and do wish that all who are afflicted would give it as fair a trial as I have done, and they will be proud to say, "it is a good medicine." I would not suffer another such an attack for any consideration, or at any cost. I am confident I can breathe more freely than I ever did. I shall always be owing a debt of gratitude for inventing so excellent a remedy. You are at liberty to use my name in this regard as you think proper.

E. PRATT,

Messenger Common Council, Pittsburgh, Pa.

ANOTHER NEW CERTIFICATE.—DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP.—I have been troubled with a cough and cold for several weeks—so bad was it that I could not sleep. I had the advice and prescriptions from three of the best physicians in the city, whom I could name, but they did not do so. I finally procured a bottle of your Pectoral Syrup, which cured me entirely.

J. W. SIMONTON,

January 9th, 1860.

"STOP THAT COUGHING."—"How can I do it?" Go to Keyser's, on Wood street, and get a bottle of his Cough Pectoral, and if that don't cure you, your case must be desperate indeed." This is a specimen of the colloquy one hears every day in cold-catching periods of the year. And we can say from experience, cheerfully concur in the adviser's admonition, as above, for we have tried the "Pectoral," in a most stubborn case. Near two weeks ago we went to Pittsburgh, with one of the most distressing, contrary, mulish, unsubduable coughs we ever experienced since our advent upon this mundane sphere. We coughed steadily and laboriously for one whole week, in hopes of tiring it out, but it was no go. In fact, it seemed rather to have improved in practice, and to have acquired strength, potency and distressibility by the operation. In this stage of the case we coughed our way to Keyser's, No. 140 Wood street, procured a fifty cent bottle of the "Pectoral," took it according to directions, and in forty-eight hours we were master of the field, the enemy having unconditionally surrendered, after a brief, but unequal conflict with so formidable an adversary as Keyser's famous Cough Pectoral.—Brownsville Clipper, Dec. 14, 1859.
